A motion was made to postpone the motion before the Senate, for the purpose of taking into consideration the following motion, to wit:

"That the President of the United States be informed that the Senate will not consent to the ratification of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, between the United States and his Britannic Majesty, concluded at London on the 19th November, 1794, for the reasons following:

"1st. Because so much of the treaty as was intended to terminate the complaints flowing from the inexecution of the treaty of 1783, contains stipulations that were not rightfully or justly requirable of the United States, and which are both impolitic and injurious to their interests; and because the treaty hath not secured that satisfaction from the British government, for the removal of negroes in violation of the treaty of 1783, to which the citizens of the United States were justly entitled.

"2d. Because the rights of individual States, are, by the ninth article of the treaty, unconstitutionally invaded.

"3d. Because, however impolitic or unjust it may generally be to exercise the power prohibited by the tenth article, yet it rests on legislative discretion, and ought not to be prohibited by treaty.

"4th. Because so much of the treaty as relates to commercial arrangements between the parties, wants that reciprocity upon which alone such like arrangements ought to be founded, and will operate ruinously to the American commerce and navigation.

"5th. Because the treaty prevents the United States from the exercise of that control over their commerce and navigation, as connected with other nations, which might better the condition of their intercourse with friendly nations.

"6th. Because the treaty asserts a power in the President and Senate, to control, and even annihilate the constitutional right of the Congress of the United States over their commercial intercourse with foreign nations.

“ 7th. Because, if the construction of this treaty should not produce an infraction of the treaties now subsisting between the United States and their allies, it is calculated to excite sensations which may not operate beneficially to the United States.

“ Notwithstanding the Senate will not consent to the ratification of this treaty, they advise the President of the United States to continue his endeavors, by friendly discussion with his Britannic Majesty, to adjust all the real causes of complaint between the two nations.” Whereupon,

On motion, it was agreed to divide this last motion as follows, to wit:
“ That the motion of the 17th, now before the Senate, be postponed;” and

It passed in the negative, { Yeas 10,
 { Nays 19.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,
Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bloodworth, Brown, Burr, Butler, Jackson, Langdon, Martin, Mason, Robinson, and Tazewell.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Bradford, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Frelinghuysen, Gunn, King, Latimer, Livermore, Marshall, Paine, Potts, Read, Ross, Rutherford, Strong, Trumbull, and Vining.

Whereupon, a motion was made to divide the original motion, made on the 17th instant, and now before the Senate, so as to adopt the first paragraph thereof, ending with the word “ specified;” and

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas 20,
 { Nays 10.

So this paragraph was unanimously agreed to; and it was Resolved, (two-thirds of the Senate concurring therein,) That they do consent to, and advise the President of the United States, to ratify the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, between his Britannic Majesty and the United States of America, concluded at London, the 19th day of November, 1794, on condition that there be added to the said treaty an article, whereby it shall be agreed to suspend the operation of so much of the 12th article, as respects the trade which his said Majesty thereby consents may be carried on, between the United States and his islands in the West Indies, in the manner, and on the terms and conditions therein specified.

And the Senate recommend to the President to proceed; without delay, to further friendly negotiations with his Majesty, on the subject of the said trade, and of the terms and conditions in question,

Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.

A motion was made by Mr. Gunn, seconded by Mr. Read, as follows:

Whereas it is alleged by divers American citizens, that negroes, and other property, to a considerable amount, were carried away in contravention of the 7th article of the treaty of peace between the United States and his Britannic Majesty:

Resolved, That the Senate recommend to the President of the United States, to renew, by friendly negotiation with his said Majesty, the claims of the American citizens, to compensation for the negroes and other property, so alleged to have been carried away; and in case the disagreement that has hitherto existed, relative to the construction in this behalf of the said article, cannot be removed by candid and amicable discussions, that it be proposed, as a measure calculated to cherish and confirm the good understanding and friendship which it is desired may prevail between the two countries, that Commissioners be appointed, in the manner directed by the 6th article of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, lately concluded between the United States and his said Majesty, with authority to ascertain and decide, as well the interpretation of the said 7th article in this respect, as likewise the amount of the losses sustained by the alleged violation of the same.

But the Senate are of opinion that the negotiation on this subject should be distinct from, and subsequent to that recommended by their act of the 24th instant, respecting the trade and intercourse between the United States and his said Majesty's islands in the West Indies.

And, after debate, it was agreed that this motion lie until to-morrow for consideration.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1795.

The motion made by Mr. Gunn, as last recited, and yesterday referred to this day for consideration, was resumed.

On motion to divide this motion, and to agree to all that is contained from the word "whereas," to the word "same," at the end of the first paragraph of the resolution inclusive,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, 27,
Nay, 1.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Bloodworth, Bradford, Brown, Burr, Butler, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Frelinghuysen, Gunn, Jackson, King, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, Marshall, Martin, Paine, Potts, Read, Robinson, Ross, Rutherford, Strong, Trumbull, and Vining.

Mr. Tazewell voted in the negative.

A motion was made by Mr. Jackson, to amend the last paragraph of the motion under the consideration of the Senate, to wit;

"But the Senate are of opinion that the negotiation on this subject should be distinct from and subsequent to that recommended by their act of the 24th instant, respecting the trade and intercourse between the United States and his said Majesty's islands, in the West Indies," to be read as follows:

"And the Senate are of opinion that the negotiation on this subject, be considered as part of the negotiation recommended by their act of the 24th inst.,

respecting the trade and intercourse between the United States and his said Majesty's islands in the West Indies."

Whereupon, an amendment, after division of a motion was objected to as not being in order, and on appeal to the President, it was by him determined in the affirmative; and,

On the question to agree to the amendment proposed,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 11,
Nays, 17.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bloodworth, Brown, Burr, Butler, Jackson, Langdon, Marshall, Martin, Mason, Robinson, and Tazewell.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Bradford, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Gunn, King, Latimer, Livermore, Paine, Potts, Read, Ross, Rutherford, Strong, Trumbull, and Vining.

On the question to agree to the last clause of the original motion, to wit:

But the Senate are of opinion that the negotiation on this subject should be distinct from, and subsequent to that recommended by their act of the 24th instant, respecting the trade and intercourse between the United States and his said Majesty's islands in the West Indies;

The yeas and nays were required by one-fifth of the Senators present.

Those who voted in negative, are—Messrs. Bloodworth, Brown, Burr, Butler, Jackson, Langdon, Marshall, Martin, Mason, Robinson, and Tazewell.

Yeas 18—Nays 11.

So the question was lost, there not being two-thirds of the Senators present in the affirmative.

On motion by Mr. Butler, seconded by Mr. Frelinghuysen, to reconsider this last question,

The yeas and nays were required, by one-fifth of the Senators present.

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Bradford, Butler, Cabot, Ellsworth, Foster, Frelinghuysen, Gunn, King, Latimer, Livermore, Paine, Potts, Read, Ross, Rutherford, Strong, Trumbull, and Vining.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bloodworth, Brown, Burr, Jackson, Langdon, Marshall, Martin, Mason, Robinson, and Tazewell.

Yeas 19—Nays 10.

On motion by Mr. Rutherford, for the question on the resolution as amended, to wit:

Whereas, it is alleged by divers American citizens, that negroes and other property, to a considerable amount, were carried away in contravention of the 7th article of the treaty of peace between the United States and his Britannic Majesty:

Resolved, That the Senate recommend to the President of the United States to renew by friendly negotiation with his said Majesty, the claims of the American citizens to compensation for the negroes and other property so alleged to have been carried away; and in case the disagreement, that has hitherto existed relative to the construction in this behalf of the said article, cannot be removed by candid and amicable discussions, that it be proposed, as a measure calculated to cherish and confirm the good understanding and friendship which it is desired may prevail between the two countries, that Commissioners be appointed in the manner directed by the 6th article of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, lately concluded between the United States and his said Majesty, with authority to ascertain and decide, as well the interpretation of the said 7th article, in this respect, as likewise the amount of the losses sustained by the alleged violation of the same.

The following written messages were received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Dandridge, his Secretary:

UNITED STATES, June 25th, 1795.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

It has been represented by our Minister Plenipotentiary, near the French Republic, that such of our commercial relations with France as may require the support of the United States, in detail, cannot be well executed without a Consul General. Of this I am satisfied, when I consider the extent of the mercantile claims now depending before the French government; the necessity of bringing into the hands of one agent the various applications to the several Committees of Administration, residing at Paris; the attention which must be paid to the conduct of Consuls and Vice-Consuls; and the nature of the services which are the peculiar objects of a Minister's care, and leave no leisure for his intervention in business to which consular functions are competent. I therefore nominate Fulwar Skipwith, to be Consul General of the United States, in France.

I also nominate John Kelty, of Maryland, to be Inspector of the Revenue for Survey No. 1, in the District of Maryland.

William Nichols, of Pennsylvania, to be Marshal of and for the Pennsylvania District, vice David Lenox, resigned.

John Davis, of Plymouth, in Massachusetts, to be Comptroller of the Treasury of the United States, vice Jonathan Jackson declined.

John Stockton, to be Commissioner of Loans for the State of Delaware, vice James Tilton resigned.

Dudly Atkins Tyng, of Massachusetts, to be Collector for the District of Newburyport, vice Edward Wigglesworth, superseded; and George Forster, to be Collector for the District of Sunbury, in the State of Georgia, vice James James, who was appointed by the name of John James, in February last, and who has declined.

Go. WASHINGTON.

UNITED STATES, June 25th, 1795.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

Just at the close of the last session of Congress, I received from one of the Senators and one of the Representatives of the State of Georgia, an application for a treaty to be held with the tribes or nations of Indians claiming the right of soil to certain lands lying beyond the present temporary boundary line of that State, and which were described in an act of the Legislature of Georgia, passed on the 28th of December last, which has already been laid before the Senate. This application, and the subsequent correspondence with the Governor of Georgia, are herewith transmitted. The subject being very important, I thought proper to postpone a decision upon that application. The views I have since taken of the matter, with the information received of a more pacific disposition on the part of the Creeks, have induced me now to accede to the request: but with this explicit declaration; That neither my assent, nor the treaty which may be made, shall be considered as affecting any question which may arise upon the supplementary act passed by the Legislature of the State of Georgia, on the 7th of January last, upon which inquiries have been instituted, in pursuance of a resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives; and that any cession or relinquishment of the Indian claims shall be made in the general terms of the treaty of New York, which are contemplated as the form proper to be generally used on such occasions; and on the condition that one half of the expense of the supplies of provisions for the Indians assembled at the treaty, be borne by the State of Georgia.

Having concluded to hold the treaty requested by that State, I was willing to embrace the opportunity it would present, of inquiring into the causes of the dissatisfaction of the Creeks which has been manifested, since the treaty of New York, by their numerous and distressing depredations on our south-western frontiers. Their depredations on the Cumberland have been so frequent, and so peculiarly destructive, as to lead me to think they must originate in some claim to the lands upon that river. But whatever may have been the cause, it is important to trace it to its source; for, independent of the destruction of lives and property, it occasions a very serious annual expense to the United States. The Commissioners for holding the proposed treaty, will, therefore, be instructed to inquire into the causes of the hostilities to which I have referred, and to enter into such reasonable stipulations as will remove them, and give permanent peace to those parts of the United States.

I now nominate Benjamin Hawkins, of North Carolina, George Clymer, of Pennsylvania, and Andrew Pickens, of South Carolina, to be commissioners to hold a treaty with the Creek nation of Indians, for the purposes herein before expressed.

Go. WASHINGTON.

The messages and papers therein referred to, were severally read

Ordered, That they lie until to-morrow for consideration.

A motion was made by Mr. Burr, seconded by Mr. Livermore;

“That the resolution of the 8th instant, enjoining secrecy upon the Senators, with regard to the communications on that day made by the President, be rescinded; but that it be nevertheless enjoined upon the Senators not to authorize or allow any publication in print, of the said communication, or any article thereof.”

Whereupon, a motion was made by Mr. Ellsworth, to postpone the motion before the Senate, in order to introduce the following motion:

That, until the treaty yesterday before the Senate shall be ratified, it should be left solely to the discretion of the President of the United States, what publication, if any, shall be made of the same;” and

It passed in the negative.

The Senate adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Mr. Cabot reported that the President of the United States had no further communications to make to the Senate; than his hearty wishes that, in a speedy meeting with their friends, they may enjoy every felicity.

Ordered, That there be paid by the Secretary of the Senate, out of the moneys appropriated for the contingent expenses of the Senate, to James Mathers, Doorkeeper, three dollars per day, and to Cornelius Maxwell, Assistant Doorkeeper, two dollars a day, as compensation for their respective attendance during this special session of the Senate, over and above their stated allowance.
